FUTURE BRIGHT FOR U.S. RUBBER, ROTARIANS TOLD

The country's rubber situation has vastly improved—so much so that in the near future the country will be self sufficient in its rubber supplies and probably never again will use crude natural rubber in the quantities it previously used.

That statement was made Monday evening by Ernest Dunbar, Littlestown, manufacturer of rubber products and of synthetic rubber, in a talk to the local Rotary club at its regular meeting held at the YWCA.

That future status, however, is still several years off, despite the fact that the situation has so improved that larger quotas of rubber are being given manufacturers of rubber articles, and "we should be able to get through the war without too much difficulty, if we conserve what we have," he declared.

Synthetic Cheaper, Better

"So valuable will be synthetic rubber at the end of the war, and so skillful will be the development of the synthetic product that the nation will probably be self-sufficient in its rubber supply and never again will it go back to its former dependency on crude, natural rubber from the orient."

"Synthetic rubber will be produced so cheaply that it will be more economical to produce our own rubber than to have the cheapest labor bring natural rubber out of the jungles and ship it over here."

"The synthetic will also be better rubber. Tires made of it will be oil resistant and will last at least twice as long as tires from natural rubber."

Praise for Chemists

"Even if we do return to the use of natural rubber for auto tires we will still use a cap of synthetic rubber because of its oil-resistant, wear-resistant properties."

Those were among the statements made by Mr. Dunbar in giving the highest praise to the chemists of the nation who are developing the synthetics.

So rapid has been the development of synthetics that after the war, "the present formulas and methods will be so outgrown that one can well imagine the necessity for wholesale scrapping of our present $500,000,000 expenditures because there will be something better," Mr. Dunbar declared.

Describes Latex

Mr. Dunbar, a member of the Littlestown Rotary club, told the group of the production of camouflagage ponchos, rubbers, rain coats and other articles for the government. The Taneytown plant which burned last year has been restored to 50 per cent production, he said.

His talk covered the discovery of latex, the milky juice of tropical trees and shrubs which is made into rubber. A remarkable thing about latex, he pointed out, is the fact that "latex bearing trees, shrubs and vines live without contributing or receiving anything from the latex system." ARGUE THREE COURT CASES

Argument was heard in three cases before the court Monday afternoon while no decision was announced in any of the cases.

A motion for a rule to show cause why Evelyn Swope Neely should not be severed as a plaintiff in the case of Edward Swope, Evelyn Swope Neely, Esther Hayberger, Bertha Culp, and Frank Slonaker against John Costello, was argued.

A motion to squash a writ of certiorari was heard in the case of John T. Koontz versus Amos C. Baker.

John P. Butt, Esq., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and John W. Luca-bra were appointed viewers to appraise the damages to real estate of Mary A. Hiltzbrick, Littlestown R. 1, Germany township, caused by the altering of the grade of state Legislative route 42 (1).

The court adjourned Monday until 11 a. m. Saturday when it will meet in chambers.

NEW SURVEY IS PLANNED BY C.C.

Plans for a labor and property survey to determine what facilities might be available for industries seeking to locate in Gettysburg were discussed Monday evening by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their monthly session in the Chamber offices, Baltimore street.

A complete industrial survey of the town will be made, the Chamber directors decided after learning of two businesses seeking locations here which were unable to come to the town because of lack of facilities.

The Chamber secured a membership in the State Chamber of Commerce and welcomed a new member, the Western Maryland Railroad, making 98 member so far. President Mares Sherman presided with directors Edmund W. Thomas, Ralph Z. Oyler, Dr. J. Walter Coleman and Vernon Corle present. The June membership dinner meeting will be held June 29 at Mrs. Smith's restaurant, it was decided.

PLAYGROUND TO OPEN MONDAY

Gettysburg's youngsters are looking forward to next Monday morning, scheduled opening of the playground at the high school for the summer months.

Work on the placing of the swings, slides, jungle jim and other equipment is underway this week with the workmen rushing to have all in readiness for the opening date.

No special ceremonies will be held Monday, Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the Gettysburg recreation board, said today. Besides new equipment the recreation board has also purchased large quantities of supplies for handicraft programs to be held this summer. Fred P. Haehlen and Miss Arlene Plank will be in charge of the youngsters. Both served last year at the playground.

W. L. Snyder, Of Bendersville, Observes Eighty-Eighth Anniversary

For more than half a century the name of William L. Snyder, Bendersville (affectionately known to his legion of friends as Bill), has been "a household word in our little town," and the Snyder harness and saddle-making establishment has enjoyed an A-1 reputation far beyond the confines of Adams county.

Today Mr. Snyder observes his 88th birthday anniversary.

Fifty years ago, in what is popularly known as the Gay 90's, the horse was an indispensable and integral part of our every day existence. Horse-power did then what the automobile, truck, and tractor do now, and who is there to say that he didn't do a pretty good job? Maybe it took him a little longer; but what could be more thrilling and romantic than a beautiful pair of horses, fully equipped and rarin' to go, whether hitched to a fire engine (Please Turn to Page 5)

Biglerville P. O. Staff Sets Record In Bond Purchases

By devoting 77 per cent of their pay during the month of May to the purchase of war bonds and stamps the six employees of the Biglerville post office set a record for Adams county and possibly for the state or larger areas.

Acting Postmaster Lawrence M. Oyler, who is chairman of the postmasters' committee for bond and stamp purchases in the county, said that all of the Biglerville postal employees are enrolled in the payroll savings plan. Earl E. Carey is the postmaster.

BUYERS SWAMP SHOE STORES AS STAMPS EXPIRE

"It's a madhouse," was the description given the rush by Adams countyans to buy shoes by one tired shoe clerk who today surveyed the wreckage of what had once been nicely stacked shelves filled with shoes.

"Anyone who needs shoes today can still get them," the clerk continued—"if he has the right size feet."

Ration stamp No. 17 becomes invalid at midnight today and store owners are convinced that by that time nearly everybody in the county will have used his ration stamp while there was still time.

Most shoe stores reported crowds waiting outside the door when clerks opened for business this morning. Later this morning the crowd had become somewhat thinner although clerks and storekeepers looked for continuation of the rush this afternoon.

Rush Began Last Week

Many of the stores had sold out most of their shoes in popular sizes and were turning away many customers because of lack of shoes. All had started plans to restock during the next few weeks as soon as shoes are available. One store owner reported a company with which he deals had only size 8½ E shoes, having been caught by the rush (Please Turn to Page 2)

Officer Loses Credentials Here

"Short snorter" club membership credentials and important military passes and credentials were contained in a billfold lost in Gettysburg Saturday night by Lt. W. T. Halvosen, 2524 17th street, N.W., Washington, D. C., that officer reported to local police. There was about $35 in cash also in the black leather billfold, the officer said.

Lt. Halvosen, who said he became a "short snorter" by reason of air flights across the Atlantic—one of which he was a member of the flight crews that took Mr. Roosevelt to Casablanca—is less interested in the cash than in the credentials and his "club" membership card, a dollar bill autographed with the names of the other members of his crew on the trans-oceanic flights.

ARMY NURSE IS LIONS SPEAKER; HOLD ELECTION

Jap-prisoners often attempted to starve themselves to death after arriving at U. S. Army hospitals in New Caledonia but always responded to good treatment which apparently was not expected by them, Lt. Jeanne Hoffman, Gettysburg girl who is serving as an Army nurse, told members of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening when she appeared as guest speaker at the weekly dinner session of the service club.

"Japanese soldiers who had been taken prisoner felt they were in disgrace and could never return to their homeland without great 'loss of face' but Jap sailors did not regard capture as a special dishonor," Miss Hoffman said.

"They did not expect good treatment but when they received it they seemed appreciative. Some of them spoke a little English. We talked to the others through Chinese interpreters," explained the Army nurse who will leave Gettysburg this week for an Oklahoma Army camp.

List New Officers

Miss Hoffman told of conditions she observed during her 16-month tour of duty in the Pacific and described visits to Australia and New Zealand. She said natives of those lands frequently expressed the hope that after the war their countries might gain some political connection with the United States.

The speaker was presented to the club by G. W. Lefever, club secretary.

During the business session before the program, the clubmen conducted their annual election of officers which resulted in the selection of this staff to take up their duties at the first meeting in July: President, Hugh C. McIlheny; first vice president, J. Milton Bender; second vice president, Glenn L. Bream; third vice president, Milton R. Remmel; secretary, G. W. Lefever; treasurer, Elmer H. Schriver; lion tamer, Clarence J. Waybright; tail twister, Robert Smith, and directors, Ralph Z. Oyler and Mahlon P. Hartzell.

Guests Attend

Club guests Monday evening included Lt. Donald M. Swope, a member of the club now stationed at Camp Walters, Texas; Marbury C. Little, Freeport, Pa., former club secretary who is spending a week here with relatives; and Pvt. William Keefe, son of Lion L. C. Keefe.

Thirty-two Lions and guests attended the meeting with Vice President McIlheny presiding in the absence of President William A. Beales, who entered active duty with the U. S. Navy last week.

The session was held at Mrs. Smith's restaurant.

TO ENTERTAIN NAVAL CADETS

Burgess Joseph R. Hoke, of Emmitsburg, has called a public meeting of citizens of that Maryland community for 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the American Legion hall to formulate plans for the entertainment of Naval cadets while on week-end leave from their station at Mt. St. Mary's college.

With the announcement that another group of cadets will be assigned to the Mount next month the Emmitsburg War Recreation Committee will be organized Thursday evening to provide amusement and entertainment for the young men while on brief leaves.

Burgess Hoke has circulated the town with leaflets inviting public spirited citizens to attend the meeting to help organize the committee and complete plans for the entertainment of the young men.

More than two hundred young men from the Emmitsburg area are in service.

Each month the Emmitsburg Lions club mails a mimeographed letter to every man in service. The letter contains highlights of the news of the community with special emphasis on news of the activities of those in service from that area.

Thousands Of Germans Are Running From Aerial Blows

By ROGER GREENE
The Associated Press

A mass evacuation of cities in western Germany and Berlin itself to escape the tempest of Allied bombs was reported in Bern today, even as the Nazi home front shook under a violent new assault by fleets of RAF block-buster planes thundering over the Ruhr.

With more than 12,000,000 pounds of explosives already dropped on Germany since last Friday, RAF pre-dawn raiders returned to the attack for the fourth night in a row, pounding the war foundries city of Oberhausen and other objectives. Berlin said the damage was severe.

Refugees Fleeing

German newspapers reaching Bern, Switzerland, acknowledged that refugees were fleeing the western Reich's "bomb alley" as a result of 180 heavy Allied raids and 600 air alarms, and urged the German people to open their homes to evacuees.

Bomb-battered Duesseldorf, target of a recent 2,000-ton RAF raid, was said to be one of the cities being abandoned.

Das Reich said the evacuation scheme called for refugees from Berlin to go to Brandenburg, East Prussia and Pomerania, while others from northern Westphalia (the Ruhr) went to Bavaria. "Comfort must bow to the demands of necessity," said Adolf Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, calling on the nation to crowd refugees into their homes.

Bitterness

Das Reich said not only bombed-out families but also those as yet untouched by the great Allied aerial offensive were being removed. Berlin newspapers noted that there was bitterness and resentment among both refugees and their sometimes unwilling "hosts."

A British Air ministry communique said the RAF's main attack during the night set big fires at Oberhausen (pop. 110,000), an important steel and coal center on the Rhine, three miles west of much-bombed Essen.

At the same time, swarms of lighter RAF planes bombed, cannonaded and machine-gunned railways, water transport and airfields just behind the Nazi-occupied "invasion" coast from Holland to northern France.

Eighteen RAF planes were listed as missing.

"Stand By For Invasion" Says Rome Radio

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 15 (AP)—The Wellington workhorses of the RAF drilled the east Sicilian shipping and ferry terminal of Messina with two-ton blockbusters and showered it with incendiaries Sunday night. Allied headquarters announced today, as preliminary attacks continued on the large islands guarding the Tyrrhenian sea approaches to Italy.

For the second successive day, however, the Northwest African Air Forces delayed all-out assault. The communique of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced that operations yesterday were confined to reconnaissance and patrolling.

"Stand By For Invasion"

(A Rome radio commentator, in a broadcast recorded in London, told Italians to stand by for an Allied invasion, and other Rome and Berlin broadcasts contrived to give a picture of intense air and sea activity in the invasion triangle between Malta, Bizerte and Sicily.)

(It was not clear, however, whether the activities centered about the massing of an Allied invasion fleet, the ferrying of Italian prisoners of war from the captured island of Pantelleria or Allied preparations to convert Pantelleria into an Allied base.)

(London newspapers quoted the Rome radio as saying that Allied warships and transports were massing in the Sicilian strait, that Axis planes had engaged allied convoys in an almost continuous battle for the last three days and that the fight "has not lost any of its violence.")

AXIS FEELING FULL FORCE OF ALLIED AIR ARM

(While DeWitt MacKenzie is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of The Associated Press bureau in Tokyo.)

By MAX HILL

The Axis finally is feeling the full impact of America's tremendous plane production, both on land and at sea, after months of delays which seem inherent in a democracy.

And it must come as quite a shock to the Hitler-Mussolini-Tojo combine that the United Nations now have awakened to the credo expressed so aptly by a Japanese when he was criticized for the tactics of the Rising Sun Army in China.

This Japanese said tartly, and with evident scorn toward his interrogator's attitude:

"Nobody ever has discovered a polite way to kill a man."

Our air power virtually unaided brought about the surrender of the three Italian islands in the Mediterranean—Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa—but most qualified observers are convinced this will not be the case with Germany and Italy proper.

History backs them up, and in some instances bombing has had an effect completely the reverse of the one desired. Britain's resistance was stiffened, not broken, by approximately nine months of steady raids.

One of the reasons the Spanish Republicans fought so furiously around Barcelona was the devastating and constant bombing of that city.

"We'll shoot down every plane that comes over, and if we run out of ammunition we will reach out with our bare hands and pull them down," one infuriated soldier exclaimed to an American correspondent. Naturally he exaggerated, but it was his spirit which counted.

How are we to know, then, to what fury and what hatred the current bombings of Germany may arouse the Nazis?

There is another phase which enters seriously into the question of mass bombing of the European continent. We lost 26 Fortresses Sunday, and the British lost 24 bombers Saturday. Until a more specific announcement of damage done is released it cannot be said accurately whether the raids were worth the cost of almost 500 skilled and patiently trained men and millions of dollars worth of flying equipment.

Strengthened Defenses

A veteran airman once said to me: "I'm always skeptical of these raids which end with the announcement, 'All of our planes returned safely.' That means one of two things. Either the planes were flying so high accurate bombing was impossible or they failed to reach their objective."

Now, that is a callous attitude, but undoubtedly a correct one. The bombers Saturday and Sunday must have one in low over their targets, perhaps as low as 2,000 or 3,000 feet, and at such an altitude they were extremely vulnerable to ack-ack fire.

This heavy loss might indicate, also, that the Germans have found a way to strengthen their defenses. It is known they have Radar to guide their fire, and some reports have it that accurate gunnery is now possible up to 30,000 feet, so high the pilots can't even see the earth.

Atlantic Patrols

A less publicized but just as important phase in our air power is the work being done by patrols over the Atlantic. The danger spot in the mid Atlantic is now far better patrolled, both in the air and on the sea, than it was a few months ago.

An indication of how successful this work really is came with an official announcement that no western Atlantic merchant ship sinkings were reported last week for the first time since Feb. 15, 1943.

We still have a long way to go, however, before we can even suggest that the submarine menace has been eliminated, but competent Naval men such as Admiral King have hinted recently that we have some new device which will cut losses down to an even lower level.

That is not pleasant news to the already beleaguered Axis.

KNOX REPORTS ALL LOST SUBS ARE REPLACED

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, June 15—The Navy promised more bad news for the Japanese today to pile on top of the report of 12 more of their vessels being sunk by submarines. Secretary Knox reported that the eight American submarines so far reported lost have been replaced "many times over."

The secretary's disclosure at a press conference followed Navy announcements yesterday that United States under-sea rovers have sunk 12 more Japanese ships and damaged five for a total to date of 256 enemy vessels destroyed or damaged.

The submarines are carrying the brunt of the war in the Pacific, along with planes, and Knox was asked when the present "lull" in large scale combat would break up.

Steady Growth
"I can't tell you," he said, "except that it takes an awfully long while to get ready for any kind of sizeable movement."

He did not amplify what he meant by "sizeable movement." The secretary said that the increase in the American submarine fleet—which is known to be operating primarily in the Pacific—was attained as a steady growth rather than as any sudden building up of the force.

"We have added a small number every month, giving us a steady addition," Knox declared.

Another factor explaining the increase in ships destroyed as indicated by yesterday's announcements was due not only to the increase in the number of American vessels on duty, Knox said, but also to the fact that "our men are learning the trade right along."

Before the war America had 111 submarines built and 173 being built, according to the last naval figures made public.

"Y" DIRECTORS ADOPT BUDGET AT JUNE MEET

The annual YWCA budget was adopted by the directors Monday afternoon at the June meeting held in the "Y" building, center square. Basing the amount on the $1,825 contributed so far in the annual drive, the directors voted to spend approximately $2,300 this year.

Additional contributions, particularly from some sections of the county which have not yet reported totals, to the annual drive, income derived from such activities as the weekly Rotary dinners, and the use of much volunteer help will keep the budget balanced during the year, the directors believed.

Most of the money will be expended for water bills, repair and maintenance of the building, janitor service, lighting, furniture and other expenses connected with the use of the building as a community center as well as Y headquarters, according to the budget.

New Summer Hours

Some income will be derived from the rent of rooms at the building to tourists and others. The group voted to move the library to a more central portion of the building to allow possible use of the front room on the second floor for tourists. Four rooms will be available when the new room is ready, it was reported.

New hours of opening and closing during the summer months were announced. The "Y" will open at 8 a. m. each morning except Saturday when the doors will open at 7:30 a. m. During the winter the "Y" has opened at 7 a. m. The new hours will be kept from June 21 through September 4.

FUTURE BRIGHT

of the latex to the life of the trees has never been explained, at least, not to my knowledge.

"Latex is obtained by making an incision through the bark, almost to the wood when the latex flows freely. The latex is a milky colored substance containing from 30 to 50 per cent solids known as rubber. The balance is water. The rubber is removed in much the same manner as cream is separated from milk."

S. A. Rubber Best

The best grade of natural rubber comes from South America, but there has been no great development of the South American trees, he said. A program used in India, the Malay peninsula, Ceylon, Java and Sumatra of domesticated rubber trees on plantations developed a good rubber which was the most used rubber. Mexico "produced a grade of rubber of lower value, capable of being mixed with higher grades for certain purposes. An extender is its best use," he pointed out.

He told of the various types of synthetic rubber. Of the types of synthetics he listed as best Buna S, a mixture of butadiene and styrene which "acts like and is handled as natural rubber"; neoprene, manufactured from limestone and coke, treated differently is of the "Buna S" family; thiokol, made from ethylene chloride, sulphur and caustic soda does not have a "reputation equal to neoprene or butadiene, however it is proving a good material for re-capping and is an oil resister of merit."

Rubber from the Japs

"Butyl, made from natural gas, has inferior abrasive qualities in comparison with other synthetics but is very acceptable as a gas resister, raincoat coating or wire insulator."

The Littlestown manufacturer, whose synthetic rubber plants in other sections of the country will produce 60,000 tons of rubber during the present year and will double their capacity during the next year, hinted that apparently the nation is obtaining some rubber from the enemy. Judging from some of the rubber available and the fact that the needed amount of synthetic has been cut, it is apparent that Russia is buying rubber from Japan and shipping it through lend-lease to us, he declared.

Thirty members and one guest were present for the dinner meeting. President Kinsey presided.

BUYERS SWAMP

throughout the country by people to redeem their No. 17 coupons.

The rush for shoes began late last week and by Saturday evening exhausted clerks claimed they had never seen shoe buying in such quantities before. Monday proved even busier than Saturday, store owners said. Most stores were open Monday evening until long after ordinary closing times in order to sell shoes to all of the customers demanding them.

A number of people told clerks they did not need the shoes but were buying them because they hated to lose the ration stamp.

Turn Down Coupons

"It is not good business," one merchant declared. "Many people are buying shoes they do not want and under ordinary conditions would never buy. I have had customers come into my store to buy shoes who previously bought no more than one pair of shoes a year, but who are now planning to buy three pair so they will not lose the privilege of buying."

Some merchants said they had seen customers who did not want to buy additional shoes offer No. 17 coupons to other customers. Some customers offered extra coupons to the merchants.

The merchants turned down the offers, pointing out that not only was it illegal but that they had as much business as they wished at the moment.

The rush here however did not equal buying in larger cities, according to reports. In one city merchants roped off shoe departments and allowed customers in only as seats became vacant.

Yankees, Cardinals Win To Increase Leads; Giants Trade Barna To Red Sox

SPUD CHANDLER WINS SEVENTH, COOPER EIGHTH

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Today is the deadline for making trades in the major leagues without running the baseball quantlet known as getting waivers.

The David Harums of the diamond made a couple of restless moves yesterday that indicated they may do some more important business today.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have been trying to peddle Joe Medwick for several weeks, but if Branch Rickey has made up his mind to turn loose the one-time great slugger of the National league, this is the day he might do it.

The club that would be most likely to take him would be the New York Giants, floundering in seventh place. The Giants not only need strength on the field, but they need to convince their fans that the management is trying to get talent.

Giants, Sox Trade
Yesterday the Giants traded outfielder Herbert (Babe) Barna to the Boston Red Sox for southpaw Pitcher Ken Chase. Neither has accomplished anything notable in the last two years, but the transaction left the implication that President Horace Stoneham hoped to come up with an outfielder from some other source.

With Barna gone the Giants have only three outfielders and Sid Gordon, a combination infielder-outfielder.

The Giants also recalled two pitchers, Hugh East and Rube Fischer, from their Jersey City Farm club in the International league, replacing them with Ken Trinkle and Bob Coombs.

Another deal yesterday was the purchase of Infielder Don Heffner from the St. Louis Browns by the Philadelphia Athletics. He will be used as a utility man.

Leaders Make Gains
Only three games were on yesterday's program, but they enabled the leaders in both leagues to increase their margins.

The New York Yankees whipped the Washington Senators 4-1 with the help of errors by the Senators and six-hit pitching by Spud Chandler, who acquired his seventh victory against one defeat. The triumph increased New York's lead over Washington to three games.

In the National league the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals checked the Cincinnati Reds 5-3. Mort Cooper pitched eight-hit ball to gain his eighth victory against three defeats and Brother Walker, the catching member of the family, hit a triple with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

The Boston Braves beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-3 in a twilight tussle to take their five-game series 3 to 2. Each game was decided by one run. Connie Ryan, making three hits, led the Braves' attack.

The defeat dropped the Dodgers two games back of the Cardinals.

Swimming, Rowing Dropped By Penn

Philadelphia, June 15 (AP)—Only swimming and rowing will be missing from the University of Pennsylvania sports schedule when the 20th term opens July 5.

But the sports program depends upon the participation of personnel from the armed services and the availability of opponents, President Thomas S. Gates said in a report to the trustees.

Navy trainees are scheduled to participate in all university sports—football, soccer, basketball, wrestling, baseball, track and tennis—but the Army has refused similar permission to its trainees.

Gates said three out of four men students would be in uniform at the beginning of the term.

Herman Fischer, chairman of the Central AAU, said present plans call for Haegg to meet Rice in a three-mile duel and Dodds in a mile run if the Swedish star feels in condition for two appearances in one evening.

ROUNDUP SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, June 15 (AP)—Ned Irish is laying plans for a college basketball season at Madison Square Garden next winter, though he admits it probably won't be basketball as usual. . . . Ned points out that it doesn't take as much time to train courtmen as football players, nor as much space to transport them. . . . He also figures he can fall back on service teams to fill dates, but he can't count on them right now. . . . Bucky Harris fined two of his Phillies' players 50 bucks apiece for missing the bus to an exhibition game at Camp Shanks, New York, last week. . . . Larry Atkins, the Cleveland fight promoter, already is planning to move into Detroit Olympia and the Chicago stadium as matchmaker after the war.

FOOTBALL TRADITION
The last time W. Va. and Va. Tech played football in Charleston, West Virginia, the game was a fill-in when the Mountaineers had broken off with Washington and Lee after Sol Metzger had taken his West Virginia team off the field and forfeited the 1916 game. . . . The next year in Huntington, West Virginia, Ira Errett Rodgers led the Mountaineers to their most recent victory over MPI. . . . They're slated to meet again in Charleston this October because the war interrupted the W&L series. . . . and the West Virginia coach is Ira Errett Rodgers.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
If that 30-day harness race meeting at Empire City goes through, trotting horse men would like to have the Hambletonian race to draw the crowds. But Bill Kane is so anxious to preserve the Goshen "tradition" for the Hambletonian that he even has considered holding the meeting there without betting. . . . Babe Hunt, former Ponca City, Oklahoma, heavyweight, returned to the ring two weeks after he lost a thumb in a hunting accident in 1932, but the loss now keeps him out of Uncle Sam's armed forces. . . . Ernest Jones, the golf tutor, claims there's only one lesson to give golfers—how to swing a club—but that the pros never will lack for business because no one ever can achieve perfection in the swing.

So many athletes from Indiana and Dayton universities have landed at Camp Croft, South Carolina, lately that a program of sports contests between the two groups is being worked out. Billy Hillenbrand and Lou Saban head the Indiana delegation. . . . When Joe Donnanovich, last year's Alabama grid captain, enters the Army this summer, he will be the fourth All-American from the Crimson Tide to sign up with Uncle Sam. Others are Chief Petty Officer Bernard (Tony) Holm (1929), Ensign Bill Lee (1934) and Lieut. Reroy Monksky (1937). With them are Lieuts. Millard (Dixie) Howell, Arthur (Tarzan) White and Holt Rast, second stringers on the All-America squads. . . . The baseball team being formed at Camp Ellis, Illinois, is in charge of a former House of David player, Lieut. Robert C. Farmer, and Sgt. Vince Garrity, who used to be bat boy for the Chicago Cubs.

JUST A HANDY GUY
Bud Foster, the Wisconsin cage coach, has been entertaining diners out with this explanation of how Johnny Kotz became such a fine one-handed basketball shot that he topped the Big Ten scoring race in 1922. . . . Johnny, Foster explains, reported late when they held the sixth grade basketball tryouts at Rhinelander, Wisconsin, some years ago. He was given a pair of trucks that were too large for him "so he had to shoot with one hand and hold up his pants with the other."

NO HIT GAMES HARDER ON FANS THAN PITCHER

By KEN DAVIS
St. Louis, Mo., June 15 (AP)—No-hitters are harder on fans and team-mates than on pitchers, says Johnny Vander Meer—who should know. He gained baseball fame by hurling two such games in five days.

Johnny was recalling those two consecutive no-hit, no-run victories today, the fifth anniversary of the second game.

By pitching a no-hitter June 11, 1938, against Boston and on June 15 against Brooklyn at night, Vander Meer, then a 23-year-old Cincinnati freshman, set a major league record. Never before or since has a major league pitcher elbowed two no-hitters consecutively, or even in one season.

Baseball immortality, even in the minds of the game's immortals, fades quickly and the husky, blond left-hander had no idea it was five years ago he made the record books.

"What the Heck"
"It's water over the dam," he grinned. Was he harassed by doubts or fears as the hitless innings stretched longer and longer?

"No, I wasn't. Personally, I think those games were harder on the fans or the boys on the bench than on me. You see, I figured I had the second no-hit game in my lap, and I figured 'what the heck, if they get a hit, what can I do about it?' And the answer, of course, was 'nothing.' Besides, I could work off my nervousness by pitching. The fans and the rest of the team just had to sit and take it."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:
Well now that we have the war in Africa finished you no doubt wonder what is to come next as we have the same thought in mind. The weather here has been very beautiful and we had a few showers this month. Well, rain or shine our work still goes on as we still have plenty to do. Before I go on with this letter I would like to say a few words about a pal of mine. Yes I knew this boy for quite a long time and he is a real pal. Being overseas, one soon finds out who his friends are; and their letters always seem to reach me. Well, "Reds" as we all call him is in the Army Air Force. He was always full of pep and ready for action and if I know "Reds" well look out, Gerry for you're gonna have a tough one on your heels. Even when he went to school he was a little "imp." (Please excuse expression, "Reds.") Now I see that most of the little "imps" of school days are really the soldiers and the ones who do the job, and do it right. My last letter from "Reds" states he is an aerial gunner and that he hopes to be over here soon. Well, I know just how he feels and what we need now are more people with just the same spirit. I've read stories about some people in the States and from the stories some are lying down on the job. Just because the African war is over, don't relax—as we got quite a few more appointments to keep and we sure want to get them scratched off of our list and get back where we belong. "We'll keep them running and all we ask is keep us going." People with the kind of spirit as "Reds" has are winning this war, so now let's all get into the spirit right away as we need help from you all. Well, before I close this letter I'll tell you who "Reds" is: He is Pvt. Richard B. Naugle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Naugle, of Gettysburg. I feel real proud of him and so will you one of these days for he'll do a good job, that I'm sure of. Seeing nearly all of my buddies in the service makes me walk with great pride for inside of me something says, "we're right with you Mitch and it won't be long now." When you've got that feeling you're damn good and proud you're an American. Well, for now it's just so long. A Middle East Soldier, PVT. GEO. C. MITCHELL, JR.

PS—By the looks of our kitchen shelf, I see that Adams county, Pennsylvania is sure putting out plenty of "chow." Sliced apples, apple butter, jams, and many kinds of vegetables, many of which were canned right in Gettysburg or near by.

His rescued companion was Graden Dupree, about the same age of Lock Haven. Dupree went under after an unsuccessful attempt to save his friend. State police called three CAP pilots who guided rescuers.

BETTINA WINS OVER BROOKS WITH ONE BLOW

By TED MEIER
Philadelphia, June 15 (AP)—Corp. Mello Bettina, who makes no secret of the fact that after the war he'd like to exchange his MP armband for the belt of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, had a new reason today to believe that he can do it—a left hand punch that would fell an ox.

The former light heavyweight from Beacon, New York, exhibited that punch last night, ending a year's absence from the ring by knocking out Lou Brooks of Wilmington, Delaware, so fast that most of the 5,543 spectators (gross gate $13,489.75) had to buy a newspaper to find out what happened.

The blow temporarily blinded Brooks, who hung on the ropes crying, "I can't see." Referee Irving Kutcher led him to his corner and raised Bettina's hand in 1:49 of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Had to Quit
Many in the crowd, missing the lightning left to Brooks' left eye, booed the negro, but Dr. Ralph Lanciano, state athletic commission physician, said later, "He did the only thing he could have done—quit."

"My examination showed Brooks had recently suffered an injury to his right eye," Doctor Lanciano said. "There was no way this could have been discovered before he entered the ring. He had only partial vision in the right eye. When Bettina hit him he suffered a concussion of the left eye. He couldn't see."

"Normal vision has returned to his left eye but I have recommended that he not be permitted to box any more in Pennsylvania."

PROBE CAMP DEATH

Fort George G. Meade, Md., June 15 (AP)—A board of officers was named today to investigate the fatal wounding of Sergeant John H. Mills, 22, of Derry, Pa., in a washroom on the reservation. Mills died last night before medical aid could be summoned. He was shot with a service pistol.

ARRESTED IN RAID

Philadelphia, June 15 (AP)—Seventy-five persons were arrested in a police raid on the Blue Bell social club Sunday night. Five were charged with keeping and maintaining a disorderly club and selling liquor to non-members. The others, 30 of them women, were accused as frequenters.

An Evening Thought

We cannot flatter ourselves that we have understood a truth until it is impossible for us not to shape
our lives in accordance with it.—

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

FREEDOM'S PURPOSE

There is a place where the door
dismisses

All that is bitter and harsh and
rude;

Where welcomes are warm with a loved one's kisses

And never may malice and hate
intrude;

Tea for the supper, a chair at the fire,

And a couch when body and spirit
tire.

There is a spot when the day is ended

Where fortune and fame are not cares forgot;

A bit of lawn with devotion attended,

And a tree or two framing a shady
spot;

Bud and blossom from spring to fall,
Books for reading and friends to call.

There is a place for which boys are dying;

(God grant that soon may the gunfire cease)

A shelter snug when the snows are flying,

Four walls that are consecrate to peace.

And lads world over, land, sky and sea,

Are fighting to save this place for freedom.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

THE ONE MOST FEARED

All about both nature and man fear hides. Inborn is fear. From childhood into old age it persists.
Unless, to a large degree, this fear were placed within us for protective purposes its devastation would be great indeed.

The story behind the control of all fear is the story of the development of character. We grow fearless by facing fear and overcoming it. The bravest of the brave have never been devoid of fear. Its very acceptance creates bravery.

The person most to be feared,
however, is the person that we are in ourself! By recognizing fear as an asset we can use it only as a protective measure, and learn to discard all forms of fear that do not contribute to this. Surrounded as we are with so many imaginary fears, this is not easy. Directing,
as nearly as we can, our thoughts and actions along lines that seem right and reasonable, and by so doing developing our conduct along normal lines as nearly as possible,
we give fear little chance for a permanent foothold.

A graphic story of self-created fear is told by Claude Houghton in his book "Neighbors." So engrossed did the main character in the story become in his own fears that they took entire possession of him.

Fear loses its power over one who is absorbed in useful or noble work.
Such a one doesn't see fit to bother with it, or to allow it to absorb precious spiritual substance. The selfless know little fear and hardly give it recognition. The mother who rushes to her child in danger, or the fireman who thinks only of the saving of life, brushes all fear aside.

A man is his own king and keeper. He is the one most to be feared in all his daily life and doing. Let him engage in something interesting, absorbing, and useful,
and he will have little or no time in which to engage in fears about himself, or to give contact with those commoner fears that are forever bobbing up.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "All Shut Up!"

FIFTY YEARS AGO

An Awful Horror—In Washington
City: On Friday morning at 9.50,
the floors of the old Ford Theatre,
in which President Lincoln was assassinated in 1865, lately occupied by a branch of the War department's clerks, fell inward, and over twenty persons were killed. There were 475 persons employed in the building, and nearly all of these were at work when the building fell.
An excavation for an electric light plant was being made in the cellar
of the structure—a three story affair
—and according to the best information obtainable, the workmen that morning had dug beneath the foundation supports in the front of the building, weakening them to such an extent that the walls gave way
before they could be jacked.

A. G. Young, of Gettysburg, an assistant chief of division, was on the third floor of the building when the crash came. He was pretty badly used up but will probably recover.

[Editorial] The Seminary to Remain Here: This question which has vexed the Lutheran church for several years, received last week
what is generally regarded a settlement in the Board of Directors of the Theological Seminary. After a full debate the Board voted to proceed to improve the main building
and to erect a new building.

The STAR AND SENTINEL congratulates this community which has for sixty years felt a keen pride in this institution; congratulates the Board upon the sense showed in this result; congratulates the church
upon escape from the injury which a contrary course would surely have done it; and congratulates itself upon the fact that the Board, after five years of deliberation, has adopted the views repeatedly advanced in our columns.

Wedding Bells: A very pretty wedding occurred in this place on Wednesday. The Rev. H. C. Bixler, of the Senior class of the Seminary, and Miss Katherine Norbeck, of this place, were made man and wife.
The ceremony was celebrated at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. Bixler is the pastor of Manchester charge, York county, and his many Gettysburg friends think that the people of that charge may well be proud of their pastor and his wife. The matrimonial knot was tied by the Rev. J. F. W. Kitzmeier, a classmate, assisted by the Rev.
Luther S. Black.

Marriages: Keiser-Weirman: June
6, at Bonneville, by the Rev. M.
J. McBride. Henry E. Keiser, of Mountpleasant township, to Miss Barbara Wiernan, of New Oxford.

Yake-Hemler: May 6, at New Oxford, by the Rev. P. P. Hemler, J.
Francis Yake, of Oxford township, to Miss Johanna A. Hemler, of Mountpleasant township.

Personal Mention: Miss Gilland,
of Chambersburg and Miss Reen,
of Newport, are visiting the Misses Gilbert.

Geo. Bond and wife, of Washington, are visiting relatives in this place.

William Arch McClean, wife and sister, Miss Olivia, left on Thursday
for the World's Fair.

Miss Edna Breidenbaugh is visiting friends in Pine Grove.

Miss Mabel Gettler, of Littlestown, spent a few days last week with Miss Bessie Baugher.

Frank Meals is off for Chicago
and the World's Fair.

Mrs. John McCurdy, of Steelton, is here for her sister's wedding.

Mr. H. O. Himes has left York
Springs and moved to Carlisle.

Jacob Mumper, of Steelton, spent Sunday in this place.

The Rev. C. R. Berger and family, of Camden, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Rupp.

Miss McCall, of York, and Miss Goettman, of Allegheny, are visiting Mrs. Dr. H. L. Diehl.

Mr. William Staats, of Pasadena,
California, is visiting Dr. J. M. Rade-baugh.

Sale of Real Estate: W. W. Kurtz,
of Philadelphia, has sold to Hon.
Edward McPherson his house and land north of the town, (for many years owned by the late Rev. Dr.
Baugher).

Democratic Convention: From
early morning crowds surged about the Globe Inn. About 10:30 o'clock the delegates assembled in the Court House and were called to order by County Chairman S. Miley Miller.
Hon. A. F. White, of Freedom, was chosen president; Frank Steffy, of New Oxford, and Newton M. Horner, of Cumberland township, vice presidents; George M. Walter and Andrew Bushman, of Gettysburg, secretaries. The chairman appointed George Slagle, Robert Bream, Henry
Owings, Fred McIntire and Del.
Sheely a committee on credentials,
and F. C. Wolf, Dr. Thomas Kennedy, Obadiah Harner, Frank Cushman and Jacob Goodenberger a committee on resolutions.

The Mt. Zion Singing Class will hold their annual Festival in Wert's Grove on Balto. pike, Saturday evening, June 24th. All are invited.

Hint Induction Of Fathers To Be Delayed To October 1

TO SPEED USE OF CHILDLESS
MEN UNDER 25

Washington, June 15 (AP)—A possibility that the drafting of fathers
may be delayed until around October 1 was indicated by selective service officials today as they moved to speed the induction of 18-25-year-old childless men now deferred on occupational grounds.

This effort to hold up the fathers' draft well beyond the last officially mentioned date, August 1, was disclosed in instructions on the filing
by employers of schedules covering occupational deferments.

Another move toward deferring
the father draft was seen in testimony before a House committee that the calling of family heads might be set back some weeks by the lowering of Navy physical requirements to a degree that would enable induction of many men previously rejected.

The new instructions suggested for the first time that fathers be listed for occupational deferment on schedules filed after July 1, but that they should not be listed unless the work-deferment was sought for some period extending beyond October 1.

Hitherto, fathers have been omitted from these "replacement schedules," which set up time tables showing how workers can be released without disrupting production.

By suggesting that employers list fathers only when seeking their occupational deferment beyond October 1, the instructions implied that they would not need work-deferment until after that date because they will be deferred until then by reason of having children.

Exams Discouraged
The instructions specified that schedules filed after July 1 must provide for release of occupational deferred childless men aged 18 to 25 unless their jobs are exceptionally important to the war effort and extremely difficult to fill.

Fathers seeking preliminary physical examinations to find out whether they may be rejected are being discouraged, except in a few cases where they have large and involved business or personal affairs.
Aside from a shortage of physicians,
selective service officials point out that standards may be changed between the time of the preliminary test and the actual draft call, or the man's own physical condition may change.

Hunterstown—This community's first Vacation Bible School will close Thursday evening with exercises to be held at 8:30 o'clock in the school house where school sessions have been held for the last two weeks under the direction of a staff of four teachers. Parents and friends are invited to attend the exercises Thursday.

Thirty-five boys and girls are enrolled in the school—12 Methodists, five Lutherans, two United Brethrens, 15 Presbyterians and one Reformed—and will demonstrate results of their classroom training.
Thursday. Certificates will be issued for good attendance records and there will be special awards for completing assigned memory work.

The primary pupils are studying Bible stories under the direction of Mrs. Frank Weaver assisted by Miss Violet Brown. Miss Ruth McIlhenny is teaching 13 juniors in a course titled "Learning and Working with Jesus," while the Rev. Earl N. Rowe, Hunterstown Methodist pastor, is intermediate teacher. He has seven pupils in a course in "What Is in the Bible."

Sessions last week were held in the morning. This week the school is being conducted from 1:30 to 4 p. m.

Thursday evening in Christ church.
(Among the speakers) George H.
Reen, of Newport, delivered an oration on "Christianity's Responsibility for Islam." Parting words of counsel were given by Dr. Valentine.

(Among the graduates) Ellis B.
Burgess, Pittsburgh; Oscar H. Gruber, Berlin.

Death: Homan—June 14, in this place, William Robert, son of Theo.
and Lizzie Homan, aged about 7 months.

Flashes of Life

SAFEGUARD THEIR VALUABLES

Orangeburg, S. C. (AP)—Two smartly-dressed young women came out of a theatre just as a heavy shower was striking its stride.

They stopped and each girl removed her shoes and carefully tucked them under her arm. Then they faded forth in the rain—barefoot.

ALERT
Dallas, Tex. (AP)—This application reached Dallas from a Yoakum
county draft board:

"We have five members and one clerk. Sometimes we stay in session until 3 a. m. and we make coffee so we can stay awake . . .
we need a special ration book for coffee and sugar."

NO BOTHER AT ALL . . .
San Francisco (AP)—The robber told Hotel Clerk Early Stick he didn't want to be bothered with coins. "Just hand over the currency."

Stick told police the man took $149 in bills. Stick kept the $160
in silver.

GIFT
Kansas City (AP)—There was a short pause in ration-book mailing at Central high school when a worker discovered he was preparing a book for David Huffman of Kansas City—on the date of the later's 102nd birthday anniversary.
Huffman does his own cooking,
too, they later learned.

SEE FIGHT ON NYA LIQUIDATION

Washington, June 15 (AP)—A bare majority of the House Appropriations committee carried to the floor
today its fight to kill off the National Youth Administration (NYA).

Although several other New Deal agencies have felt the heat of a congressional economy drive, only one has actually perished thus far—the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

By the close vote of 17 to 16, the committee struck from a federal security agency supply bill yesterday a subcommittee's recommendation that NYA be given $40,800,000
to carry on a limited program during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Instead, the full committee ordered the agency liquidated not later than next Jan. 1 and gave it $3,000,000 from unexpended balances of previous appropriations to wind up its affairs.

Last year NYA received approximately $60,000,000, and for the new year the budget called for about $55,000,000.

NYA, one of the depression-born relief agencies, was set up in 1935
to conduct industrial training schools in different parts of the country for youths of 17 to 24. It also operated a student work program to enable needy persons, 16 to 24, to remain in school.

A. L. Ketterman, Gettysburg R. 2,
who is stationed at Ft. Jackson, South Carolina, was recently promoted to private first class.

Pvt. Howard Angell is now receiving his mail in care of the post-

Devens, Massachusetts.

Donald R. Paxton, Gettysburg,
who is stationed at Leesburg, Florida, has been promoted to staff sergeant.

Motor Traffic Up In Bus Strike Area

Johnstown, Pa., June 15 (AP)— Motor traffic jumped to near pre-war volume today as the strike of 300 bus and street car operators serving a population of 250,000 in this industrial area moved into its third day.

War workers and other residents
took the inconvenience in stride, thumbing rides, walking, or doubling
up with others owning automobiles.
Stores, especially those selling shoes,
were jammed yesterday and today.
(Shoe ration coupon 17 expires today.)

Steel mills reported an unusually low rate of absenteeism. Ralph E.
Hough, general superintendent of the Bethlehem Steel company's works here, said less than 30 of its thousands of employees failed to report yesterday.

The highway from the United States to the Panama Canal is virtually complete except for gaps totaling 140 miles in Costa Rica.

DISCUSS SHORTAGE

Harrisburg, June 15 (AP)—Manpower shortages and curtailed paper supplies dominated discussions yesterday of executives of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association and a special PNPA committee on personnel. Col. J. H. Zerbey, Jr., of the Pottsville Republican, head of the association, presided at the meeting and J. L. Stackhouse of the Eastern Express led a conference on manpower.

gine, coach or plow? And it was in the equipping of these invaluable animals that our old and valued friend, Snyder, showed his genius.

No Ordinary Shop

His was no ordinary saddler shop. This for the reason that Bill Snyder had a peculiar aptitude for that particular kind of work. Emerson said:

"If you write a better book, or preach a better sermon, or build a better mousetrap than your neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to your door."

And so it was with Mr. Snyder. The product of his establishment was so much better than any of his competitors that he was kept busy practically day and night serving a wide and appreciative clientele. His shop was a beehive of industry, employing several efficient workmen; but the fine harness and saddle work, for which he had a special gift, and which he had reduced from an ordinary mechanical operation to a really fine art, was given his personal attention.

Snyder Harness

At that time six or eight horse teams were not uncommon. The writer can remember, as a boy, the great loads of iron ore and charcoal rumbling through Bendersville behind six or eight magnificent horses on their way over the mountain to Pine Grove Furnace, then going full blast.

One of those teams was a sight never to be forgotten. The enormous wagons, the strong, sturdy and well-groomed draft horses, beautifully equipped with the well-known Snyder harness, and driven by an old-time teamster with bells ringing and whip cracking—where is there an automobile or any other mechanically driven vehicle that can even remotely arouse one's emotions and romantic impulses as did one of those horse-powered transports of another era. Such outfits required the heaviest and strongest kind of harness, and the Snyder organization specialized in that field, too; in fact, there was no phase of harness-making that could not be promptly and efficiently handled, and every part of an order was manufactured in the Snyder establishment out of the finest materials.

But to the writer, here is one of the most interesting things about Mr. Snyder and his shop: Of all our related enterprises and industries of that period, his alone remains. Notwithstanding the gradual passing of the horse, the Snyder shop, since its initial opening, has never been closed a single day. The old familiar sign above the door, and the characteristic window trimmings, greet the passer-by, while within can be seen the subject of our sketch and his devoted son, Harry, who is following in his father's footsteps—a worthy son of a worthy sire—busily engaged on the work in hand.

Congratulations

It should be noted, too, that Mr. Snyder, although a busy man, has always been deeply interested in our town and community, and has been a liberal contributor of his time and substance to its general welfare. At present he is a director in our local bank, of which we are justly proud, and at the head of which he served as president for several years. In closing I want to join with Bill Snyder's friends and neighbors in the sincere wish that he may live to celebrate many, many more anniversaries, and that his shop, which has become a Bendersville institution, may never close, but will remain as a monument to the industry, initiative, and skill of its esteemed and enterprising founder.

Doctor Shot By Patient's Son

Williamsport, Pa., June 15 (AP)—The son of a former patient was charged with assault with intent to kill a young Williamsport physician who was shot five times in the chest and arms last night in a local rooming house.

Chief of Police John G. Good said that John Francis Murphy, 38, a machine shop instructor in Philadelphia, admitted seriously wounding the physician, Dr. Louis M. Orr. Good quoted Murphy as saying he had been angry at Dr. Orr since the death of Murphy's mother in Williamsport last November.

The police chief said Murphy told him he summoned the physician to his rented room on the plea of needing medical care. The doctor told Good he was fired upon as soon as he opened the door.

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The Budget bureau and the Social Security board drew the fire of the House Appropriations committee Monday in a bill carrying $1,127,362,499 for the Labor Department, Federal Security agency, the War Manpower commission, and related independent offices for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Budget bureau was criticized for having withheld a part of the funds appropriated last year for printing and binding for the Office of Education.

LOSER TAKE ALL

By Adelaide Hazelline

Chapter 9

The next guest on whom Ann and Bert called was Roscoe Newton. He thumped across his living room to meet them and boomed a welcome to Ann.

"Time you were getting here, young lady. With your grandmother dead this place is going to rack and ruin. Why, only this morning my orange juice was luke warm. Luke warm, mind you! I always drink it iced."

"I'm sure there was some mistake," Ann mumbled. "I'll . . . I'll be glad to mention it in the kitchen."

"Do more than mention it! I've been here long enough to demand a few things. And by heaven I'm going to demand them. I've got my health to consider!"

She glanced at Bert. He wasn't giving her any sign of help. "Yes, Mr. Newton," she said more meekly than she looked. After all there were as many vitamins in luke warm orange juice as in iced and she wondered just what ailment the drink was supposed to cure anyway.

"Well, I can see you're in fine shape," Bert offered. Ann surprised a poorly concealed smile of amusement on his face. "In fine shape! You drink your water all right?"

"Yes. And soaking myself to death in those blasted baths. Soaking myself to death!" Bert amended firmly. "You could not live a month without them."

Mr. Newton looked as if he'd seen a ghost. He collapsed into a chair and began to gasp for breath. "You're right, doctor. I've got to have them!"

"Whew!" Ann said when they were again in the hall.

"Just routine," Bert assured and slipped his arm about her waist.

For a second she was too startled to protest. Then quickly she shrugged away from him. "You're forgetting yourself, Bert."

"Afraid somebody might see us? After all if old Gibbs is right you may own the joint any day."

"That doesn't alter my preferences."

"You never know," said Bert smugly. "I wouldn't be such a bad partner in an enterprise like this."

They had reached the next door and Ann hesitated. "I don't believe I'll go in this one with you," she said. "I have some things to see about."

He protested but she left him. She didn't have anything to see about, of course. But she couldn't stand any more visits. If Mrs. Fay and Mr. Newton were typical of the guests she would be glad, yes, thankful, to be able to close Terrence House to them. That might force them to employ the self discipline and genuine exercise their cases required.

And thinking of Bert's prescriptions she couldn't help concluding that the mineral spring wasn't the only hoax at Terrence House.

As for herself it might be harder to earn money figuring rate sheets but it was decent and honorable. It was late Thursday night when Ann decided to make her own search of Grand Gussie's suite. Only after she had looked in every place of concealment would she begin to believe the will wasn't there.

Since Mr. Baxton slept in the bedroom adjoining the office she waited until the big house was quiet, until Sarah had turned off the light in the front hall, until the guests' rooms one by one became dark.

Then, grasping a small flashlight, she made her way to the door of her grandmother's suite.

She listened. There was no sound. Stealthily she turned the knob, pushed.

The door opened. She stepped inside, closed it behind her, being careful to leave a crack. She would not risk the noise of the latch falling into place.

A quick survey showed her Mr. Baxton's door was closed and the light out. So far, so good.

Her flash played over the desk. Reason told her there was little use to look there for if Mr. Baxton had ever found the will he wouldn't keep it. He'd be anxious to see it destroyed so Jerry could inherit the property.

No, she'd try the wall safe. It wasn't locked. Grand Gussie never locked it. Obviously the will would not be in it but she checked through the collection of old bills as a matter of routine.

Next she tried the drawer in the small table by the window. Finding nothing she picked up the teakwood box which always sat on top of it.

The box had been a gift from Jeremiah. As a child Ann had been fascinated by it. Her grandmother had shown her how to slide the secret panel to expose the small compartment in its base. Then she had let Ann play with it by the hour.

Ann lifted the lid. The box was empty. But on an impulse she touched the trick panel and sliding it back peered into the camouflaged slit.

Startled, she brought her light close to the opening, drew back. There was something inside.

Her fingers touched the edges of paper, pulled one out.

Money. It was currency and in the corner were the figures of $100. Though Ann had never seen a $100 bill this one looked genuine enough. She examined a second one and found it like the first.

One hundred dollar bills and a whole stack of them! Her grandmother must have kept them here for an emergency.

For a moment, she hesitated. What should she do with them? They shouldn't be left here and yet they had been safe here a long time.

At least until a will was found they didn't belong to her!

She pushed them back into their hiding place and went on to the what-not on the other side of the window. It was crowded with knick-knacks, none of them large enough to conceal a will. Yet she looked around and over each one before she turned to the cross-stitch picture on the wall above.

She had the picture in her hand when she first became aware of footsteps in the hall. She snapped

FLAG-DECKED PARSON GUILTY

Camden, N. J., June 15 (AP)—David S. Perkins, 25, flag-bedecked self-styled evangelist, will be sentenced June 25 for violation of the Selective Service act.

American flags protruded from his shirt pocket and there was a flag between the pages of the Bible he carried when a jury, after 15 minutes' deliberation, found him guilty in U. S. District court yesterday.

His mother, under indictment for resisting Federal officers who arrested Perkins last month, appeared in court with a flag in her hair and another pinned to her dress.

Perkins was charged with failure to report for induction after the Haddonfield draft board, despite his claim for deferment first as a correspondence school ministerial student and later as a farmer and mechanic, classified him 1-A.

Outside the Marlton, New Jersey, house where Federal agents said they arrested Perkins is a billboard on which the ten commandments are painted.

Hershey Defines "Extreme Hardship"

Washington, June 15 (AP)—If Major General Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, has his way, there will be very few men in the new class 3-D, the extreme hardship classification of the draft.

Asked during hearings on the selective service appropriation bill what a case of "extreme hardship" is, the general told the committee:

"I would say that would be the case of a man with two or three children whose wife is an invalid and who has nothing except what he earns, and who, when he went home, had to take charge of his wife and children, get the meals and wash the children's clothes early before he went to work."

Vote Against Fine For State Miners

Pittsburgh, June 15 (AP)—Members of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators association joined other large groups in voting yesterday not to assess the $1-a-day fine on the miners in their field who quit work for a week.

Byron H. Canon, executive secretary of the organization, said representatives of the United Mine Workers in Districts 3, 4 and 5 who attended the operators' meeting approved waiver of the union's part of the fines agreement, by which operators could have been fined double if they failed to make the collection.

Similar action had been taken last Saturday by the Central Pennsylvania producers.

off her light, flattened herself against the window draperies and waited for the footsteps to pass. But they didn't pass.

They paused. There was an almost imperceptible creak and a swish of air.

Someone had opened the door.

Civilian Goods Cut For Another Year

Washington, June 15 (AP)—A high War Production board official Monday declared it would be "hardly possible to think of restoring cut-off civilian goods to production until late next year."

The official, who preferred to remain anonymous, said it would be "fatal" to reduce military allocations of metal and other materials further than already has been done. Any substantially deeper cuts, he said, "could prolong the war by six months."

He acknowledged that pressure was strong for some resumption of civilian consumer goods, particularly from legislators who have been informed by retail and wholesale businessmen that they face shut-downs unless they can restock their shelves.

Shoots Wife And Then Takes Poison

Uniontown, Pa., June 15 (AP)—Coroner L. R. Herrington reported Egdi Blassotti, 40, an investigator for the Department of Public Assistance, killed his wife with a shotgun and revolver and ended his own life yesterday in their home in West Masontown by taking poison.

In returning the verdict of murder and suicide, Dr. Herrington suggested officials make a more thorough inquiry into the manner whereby Blassotti obtained a pound of poison, of which five grains would be fatal.

"There was enough to kill the population of Masontown, and quite a bit of it apparently had been used," said Dr. Herrington.

The coroner quoted Kamella Blassotti, a sister of the husband, as saying her brother shot his wife with a shot gun after she suggested going to work in a Philadelphia warplant.

Oppose Rationing Of Gas In Midwest

Washington, June 15 (AP)—A committee of midwestern representatives called Secretary Ickes, the petroleum administrator for war, and other officials to a scheduled hearing today to discuss the possibility of further gasoline rationing in their home areas.

The committee's purpose is to "prevent the imposition of any unnecessary further restrictions in the use of gasoline" in the midwest.

Besides Ickes, the committee asked Paul M. O'Leary, director of OPA's rationing division, and officials of the Office of Defense Transportation to testify.

SHOE BUYERS JAM STORES

Philadelphia, June 15 (AP)—Shoe merchants throughout Pennsylvania, glumly surveying depleted stocks, anticipated another record-breaking rush of business Monday as customers sought to cash in their No. 17 rationing stamp before the deadline today.

From all sections of the state came reports that business Saturday exceeded all previous records. Many merchants were forced to close their doors for periods in order to serve customers jammed into the stores.

In one Philadelphia store a customer, demanding better service, complained to the manager that a clerk was attempting to wait on three persons at the same time. "I'll speak to him at once," the manager replied. "He should be waiting on eight customers. That's the minimum today."

To Build Airfield At Tobyhanna Site

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The War department announced Monday that the military reservation artillery range at Tobyhanna, Pa., is being converted into an air force facility.

The change will entail installation of landing field and barracks, plumbing and miscellaneous improvements. Other details were not disclosed.
